JAMESTOWN IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD

OVERHEARD AT WSPD

POPSUGAR.

"The Westside Provisions District is charming and loaded with cute boutiques, galleries, showrooms, aromatherapy shops, chic stores, and teeny eateries. Industrial chic and design focused, it's good for date nights or meeting up with friends. Like so many other spots in the city, it's a bit random and pops up out of nowhere. Regardless, the outdoor space is another cool part of the city that's the right kind of unexpected."

VOGUE

"Sid and Ann Mashburn are a husband-and-wife team with stores right next to each other in the Westside Provisions District that have both been instrumental in defining modern Southern style. Sid does classic tailoring (not too Italian, not too American), and everything is stylish without being fussy. He bases his clothes on his closet, not on trends. The music at the shop is always on point (Big Star, CAN, Townes Van Zandt), and the attentive, friendly staff is quick to offer you a drink—Coca-Cola, beer, or bourbon. Ann (who got her start as an assistant to Vogue's Polly Mellen) has created a chic, preppy, timeless counterpart. It's the best of everything in one place."

CONDÉ NAST Traveler

"A retail area less than a mile away from Bar Taco is Westside Provisions District, a retail area loaded with intriguing shops, boutiques, and eateries. Just be mindful of the time—hours can disappear into thin air as you wander this charming outdoor space."

DEPARTURES

"Originally built in 1917 as Atlanta's first modern meatpacking plant (hence the pig as their logo), Westside Provisions has been developed into one of Atlanta's great hubs for fine dining, swanky shopping, and upscale living."
